Course Documents and Information

Course information, factsheets, module descriptors, and the programme specifications within the website are an indication of the course structure and provide a useful summary of the course when considering possible career pathways or study routes. This course information can also be used by Professional and Statutory Bodies, employers and industry as a useful guide to content and outcomes of a course.

UCLan Cyprus understands that you want to research potential Universities and courses in good time and tries to ensure information on its website is regularly updated. However, whilst the courses described are those that we plan to offer, the information may have been released far in advance of the academic year(s) in which you are interested and may therefore be subject to change at a later date. For example, admissions requirements, course content and delivery can be subject to change to enable the University to deliver a better quality of educational experience to students enrolled on the course. This can be in response to various factors including: student feedback; annual reports from external examiners; feedback from the sector or industry advisors, Professional Bodies regulations, regular course review process by course teams, accreditation and re-validation of courses by Cyprus Agency of Quality Assurance and Accreditation in Higher Education.

Applicants are encouraged to check information on our relevant course pages from time to time, particularly before submitting any application for their academic year of study. Material changes about a course will be notified to the applicant once approved and available and at the time you are made any offer of a place of study for that course.

Subject to Validation

Some courses are subject to formal course approval, accreditation and validation at regular intervals by the Cyprus Agency of Quality Assurance and Accreditation in Higher Education (CYQAA) and by UCLan under QAA, UK framework, along with other related external professional bodies, which may result in changes to the course structure or availability. Course and module information are updated accordingly, with the outcome from these approval and accreditation processes. For students holding current offers whose course has been subject to validation, please see the conditions of offer sent to you.

Entry Requirements

UCLan Cyprus' entry requirements will vary depending on the individual course and the year of entry. Any reference to typical entry qualification or grades stated on the website are provided as a guide only. There is no guarantee that applicants who have, or are predicted to achieve, grades equivalent to or exceeding typical entry qualifications or grade will be made an offer by UCLan Cyprus.

For students with qualifications gained outside of Cyprus and/or the United Kingdom, you can seek an indication of the qualifications typically required to gain entry to one of our courses by contacting our Admissions Office at: admissions@uclancyprus.ac.uk or at +357 24694000.

Tuition Fees & Finances

Information concerning the tuition fees or scholarships or other related finances matters for your studies at UCLan Cyprus, can be found here for EU/Local students and here for International Students.

Course Module Options

Some modules relating to a course are mandatory and others are optional. Please note that it may not be possible to deliver the full list of options every year. Delivery of modules will depend on factors such as changes to theory and practice in the field, student and professional feedback and how many students choose that particular option. When accepting your offer of a place to study on this course, you should be aware that some optional modules may not run. At (or before) the start of each year, you will have an opportunity to discuss your course and preferred options with your academic advisor. The University tries to ensure that you are able to undertake your preferred options, but cannot guarantee this.
